CALLING THE DICE

1. After the dice have come to a complete stop, the dealer will take a slight step back and to the right and call out each die number, lowest to highest, and the three dice total: i.e. one, four, four, and a total of nine.

2. At the same time as announcing the die numbers, the dealer will enter the results into the electronic keypad. When a no roll occurs, the dealer will call "no roll" loud enough to alert the floor supervisor that a "no roll" has occurred.
